

Questions for reflection (Pick 1)

1. In your view, what moral issues does climate change present to your own faith community? How does science operate in the “solving” of the moral issue that is climate change?
2. When and why will religious people accord credibility to scientists on the serious issues of our day, like climate change? (draw on the research!)
3. What would Mary Midgely say about what you’ve heard today, the role of science in saving us from changing climate...?
4. Does recognition of being in The Anthropocene (global ecological crisis caused by humans) affect your theology?

The planet does not need more successful people. The planet desperately needs more peacemakers, healers, restorers, storytellers and lovers of all kinds.

~ Dalai Lama
